November 22, the case of McDonald, the St. Louis crooked whisky dealer, was given to the jury, who, after consultation nearly three hours, returned a verdict of guilty on all counts of the indictment, eight in number. Judge Krum asked that the jury be polled, which was done, and each juryman replied affirmatively to the question whether it was his verdict. District Attorney Dyer then asked the Court to sentence the prisoner. This the judge refused to do at present, and advanced the bail to fifty thousand dollars. Wm. POTATOES-GOOD AND POOR.-A COTrespondent of the Boston Cultivator dis cusses the difference in quality of pototoes of the same variety as fellows The question is frequently asked, What makes such a difference in the quality of potatoes of the same variety, planted in the same field, at the same time, and, apparently, subjected in every respect to the same treatment? Potatoes, when thus treated, will very frequently produce some tubers which will cook white and mealy, while others will be heavy, bitter, and of a black color. There are probably several causes for the difference, but I propose to notice but one or two. Tubers to be sweet and good require to grow in a rather moist place entirely away from the light. Those which applace entirely pear above ground, or partly so, acquire a green color, which makes them unfit cooking. Varieties which are poor yielders are generally the best for the table, as they grow more in the ground The Sioux Indians have recently made incursions in Northern Nebraska, mostly to

Last Saturday morning, after the early services, the sexton of the Tabernacle made a complete tour through the building to turn out any lingering worshipers and to close the doors. He heard a voice of exhortation, and for a long time looked for the owner of the voice in vain. There was no one in the body of the church nor in the galleries. Neither could he find any one in the pastor's study, in the vestibule, or in the corridors. Still the voice rose high and fell low, as though it was addressed to a vast multitude of persons. Finally the sexton tracked it to a small, dark closet under a flight of stairs where here the stairs. der a flight of stairs, where shovels and brooms are kept, and where there is a pump and basin. Common Sense vs. Prejudice

By R. V. PIERCE, M. D., of the World's Dis-pensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Ad-I am aware that there is a popular and not altogether unfounded prejudice against "patent medicines," owing to the small amount of merit which many of them posdoes not apply to my remedies, as no patent has ever been asked for or obtained upon has ever been asked for or obtained upon them, nor have they been urged upon the public as "cure-alls." They are simply some favorite prescriptions, which, in a very extensive practice, have proved their supe-rior remedial virtues in the cure of the diseases for which they are recommended. Every practicing physician has his favorite remedies, which he oftenest recommends or uses, because he has the greatest confide in their virtues. The patient does not know their composition. Even prescriptions are their composition. Even prescriptions are usually written in a language unintelligible to any but the druggist. As much secrecy is employed as in the preparation of proprietary medicines. Does the fact that an article is prepared by a process known only to the manufacturer render that article less valuable? How many physicians know the elementary composition of the remailes valuable: How many physicians know the elementary composition of the remedies which they employ, some of which have never been analyzed? Few practitioners know how Morphine, Quinine, Pedophyllin, Leptandrin, Pepsin or Chloroform are made, or how nauseous drugs are transformed into palatable clivics with the control of t palatable elixirs, yet they do not hesitate to employ them. Is it not inconsistent to use a prescription, the composition of which is unknown to us, and discard another prep-aration simply because it is accompanied by aration simply because it is accompanied b directions for its use?

Some persons, while admitting that my medicines are good pharmaceutical com-pounds, object to them on the ground that they are too often used with insufficient judgment. I propose to obviate this dif-niculty by enlightening the people as to the structure and functions of their bodies, the causes, character and symptoms of disease, and by indicating the proper and judicious employment of my medicines, together with uch auxiliary treatment as may be nece sary.
